There are 195 sovereign states recognized by the united nations and Australia is one of them. Australia is the 6th Largest nation with a land area of 7,692,024 square Kilometres after Russia, Canada, China, the United States of America and Brazil. It has, however, a relatively small population of around only 26,082 million people compared to Russia's 146,057 million population

Can you cut out Australia and add the States and Territories in the correct place ?
